

ANNOUNCEMENT: ASEAN-JAPAN YOUTH FORUM 2025 (TASC 2025)

To promote leadership, regional cooperation, and social awareness among young people, the ASEAN-Japan Youth Forum 2025 (TASC 2025) is now open for applications. This year's theme, "Taking Action for Social Change," addresses one of the region's most pressing environmental challenges: plastic waste.

1. Program Overview

TASC (The ASEAN-Japan Student Conference for Taking Action for Social Change) is an annual initiative jointly organized by Japan and ASEAN countries. It aims to build a dynamic, knowledgeable youth network capable of creating positive change in their communities.

2. 2025 Theme: "Plastic Waste – Practical Youth Action" Plastic pollution is a global issue, particularly critical in Southeast Asia. TASC 2025 provides a platform for youth to propose ideas, initiatives, and solutions to reduce plastic usage, promote recycling, and foster sustainable consumption and lifestyles.

3. Key Activities

- A series of in-depth workshops and dialogues with experts from ASEAN and Japan on plastic pollution, circular economy, and environmental policies.
- A field trip in Japan to explore effective waste management models
- Multinational group discussions to design collaborative social projects, presented before a panel of experts
- Cultural exchange activities between ASEAN and Japanese youth

4. Eligibility Criteria

- Undergraduate or college students from ASEAN countries
- Aged 18–25 with good English proficiency
- Interested in social and environmental issues, especially plastic waste.
- Committed to full program participation and implementing community projects post-program.

5. Program Details

- Date: August 20–27, 2025 (tentative)
- Location: Japan
- Application Deadline: June 30, 2025
- How to Apply: Submit the online application at <https://tasc-asean-japan.org>

6. Financial Support

The program offers full coverage for round-trip airfare, accommodation, domestic transportation, and all activities within the program framework.

TASC 2025 is a meaningful opportunity for Vietnamese students to expand their global perspective, strengthen leadership capacity, and take part in shaping a cleaner, greener Southeast Asia.
